

Masanga Hospital in Tonkolili district, Sierra Leone is looking for a:

Tropical Doctor (AIGT) / Medical Officer in Charge

Masanga hospital is a governmental assisted hospital located in Tonkolili district in Sierra Leone. It is supported by several groups from Denmark, UK, the Netherlands and CapaCare in Norway. The former leprosy hospital provides paediatric, maternity and surgical care. Since 2008 Dutch tropical doctors have been present in the hospital. Besides delivering medical care, a core activity of Masanga Hospital is training medical personnel like nurses and non-physician clinicians in the Capacare surgical training program (STP) and Tonkolili District College of Health Sciences.

You would come to work in a team with another Dutch tropical doctor, who is attached to the Capacare surgical training program. You will be in charge of the day-to-day clinical work, including training of STP students. And, in capacity of Medical Officer in Charge, you will participate in the hospital management team and the joint management team of the Masanga Hospital Rehabilitation Project.

Masanga provides housing in Masanga, health insurance, and an allowance for other expenses such as: travel, living, other insurances, etc.

If you are interested in surgery, obstetrics, teaching, management and patient care and have finished the Dutch course in tropical medicine (or similar training) we encourage you to apply. We also welcome applicants who want to bring their partner or family along to Sierra Leone.

Deadline for the application is September 15th 2017.

Interviews: late September – early October, exact date will follow.

Starting date: November 2017 – December 2017.
